Before you build your website.

A practical checklist for gathering your ideas, content, and important details.

01 / Choose your focus

- [ ] Write down who you want to reach and what they need from your website.
- [ ] Choose the main action: request a quote, book, buy, visit, or get in touch.
- [ ] List your most important services or products and how people access them.

02 / Gather your content

- [ ] Prepare a short business introduction and your contact details.
- [ ] Collect service descriptions, useful prices, hours, and service locations.
- [ ] Draft an about section: your experience, your approach, and your story.
- [ ] Gather common customer questions and straightforward answers.

Your main website goal:

Bring the useful pieces together.

You can start a conversation even if some of these are still in progress.

03 / Collect your visuals

- [ ] Gather your logo files, brand colors, and any existing brand guidelines.
- [ ] Choose original, high-quality photos of your work, team, or business.
- [ ] Confirm you have permission to use photos and customer testimonials.
- [ ] Save two or three website references and note what you like about them.

04 / Plan the practical details

- [ ] List the forms, booking tools, shop, or other features you need.
- [ ] Find your domain and hosting account details; keep ownership in your name.
- [ ] Arrange secure account access when needed. Do not email passwords.
- [ ] Write down your hoped-for timing and a realistic budget range.

Before your first conversation

Bring this checklist, your goals, and anything you have gathered. Missing pieces are normal. Together, we can work out the pages, features, and next steps.
